

Sign up for the online module

AFWG MASTERCLASS

The State of the Art in the Management of Invasive Mold Infections

Taiwan Society of Internal Medicine and the ISHAM Asia Fungal Working Group* (AFWG) are pleased to invite you to the latest AFWG Masterclass, The State of the Art in the Management of Invasive Mold Infections (IMI). In this module, international experts will provide cutting-edge information about diagnosing and managing IMIs. This session is tailored for those who regularly manage these diseases, including infectious diseases physicians, hematologists, and microbiologist.

ONLINE
LEARNING

2-3h
TO COMPLETE

CERTIFICATE OF COMPLETION

CHAPTER

1 COVID-19-associated invasive mold infections

Arunaloke Chakrabarti

Professor, Center of Advanced Research in Medical Mycology, WHO Collaborating Center on Fungi of Medical Importance; Head, Dept of Medical Microbiology, PGIMER, Chandigarh India

2 Updates on serological tests to diagnose mold infections

Malcolm Richardson

Consultant Clinical Scientist in Mycology, Manchester University NHS Foundation Trust; Professor of Medical Mycology, Manchester Fungal Infection Group, University of Manchester United Kingdom

3 Updates on molecular tests to diagnose mold infections

Catriona Halliday

Principal Hospital Scientist - Mycology Centre for Infectious Diseases & Microbiology Public Health, New South Wales Australia

4 Updates on the diagnosis and treatment of chronic pulmonary aspergillosis

David Denning

Professor of Infectious Diseases in Global Health, The University of Manchester; Chief Executive, Global Action For Fungal Infections United Kingdom

5 Antifungal stewardship in hematology

Yee-Chun Chen

Professor of Medicine National Taiwan University Hospital and College of Medicine; Investigator, National Institute of Infectious Diseases and Vaccinology National Health Research Institutes Taiwan

6 Top 10 papers in 2020-2022: Invasive mold infections

Methee Chayakulkeeree

Associate Professor Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital Mahidol University Thailand

7 Ask-the-Expert panel All speakers

SCAN/CLICK QR CODE
TO START LEARNING!

This AFWG Masterclass is made possible by an unrestricted educational grant from Pfizer.

*The ISHAM Asia Fungal Working Group is a non-profit medical society dedicated to enhancing the diagnosis and management of invasive fungal infections in Asia.